

13 EXT. RUINED TEMPLE - NIGHTFADE IN.

SUPERIMPOSE: 2009. On the edge of a platform in tattered, dishevelled rags, two bums, SURESH and a mute BUM, are smoking up using chillams and listening to the Gita on the radio. The mute BUM is slow-dancing against a female mannequin torso stuck in the middle of a tree.

RADIO (V.O.)

Jaatasya hi dhruvo martyurdhruvaam janma martasya cha tasmaadaparihaaryerthe na tvam sochitumarhasi. Puttina vaaniki maranamu tappadhu. Maraninchina vaaniki janmam tapadhu.
 Anivaaryamagu ee vishayamunu
 goorchi Sokimpa tagadhu.

SURESH takes the radio and opens a compartment in the back.

He takes out some weed from it, puts it in his chillam, and continues smoking up.

CUT TO:

14 EXT. ROAD - NIGHT

A fast moving ambassador car on the Hyderabad-Chennai National Highway is blaring out the song "Gudi yenekka naa swamy gurram ekkutunte". The three men in the car are drinking. A green briefcase is beside SURI, a tough looking goon, who sits in the back.

The car goes faster, the music gets louder, drinks go down, all of which is interrupted by a heavy thud - the car hits a divider and flies through the air.

CUT TO:

15 EXT. RUINED TEMPLE - NIGHT

The mute BUM sees the accident and gestures wildly to SURESH.

He turns off the radio and continues gesturing, when SURESH hits him on the head in an attempt to calm him.

CUT TO: